Let the Games Begin

The old saying goes: Let the games begin! Last week, athletics events that involved our students from Years three to six began in earnest!

Our students performed extremely well under brilliant sunny conditions at St Patrick’s Primary School. Although athletics competitions can date back to the ancient Olympic Games in 776 BC, our modern events of high jump, long jump, discuss and shot put, were a reflection of those games held so long ago.

I wish to acknowledge all our staff, marshalls, volunteers for a brilliant day, especially our teachers, Ms Spokes and Mrs Dodd for their superb skills in organising the event!

These ancient events form the backbone for our track and field activities that will be hosted at West End Oval on May 28th.

Let the games continue!
