This week I visited the marvellous Year Two students who were enjoying a fruit stop. While the students munched and crunched their way through yummy apples and bananas – they listened carefully to their peers sharing morning news. Oh what a life!