Every Day is Harmony Day

One of my most favourite times, is visiting the students around the school. I see so much energy, happiness, laughter during my daily walkthrough the school. When we are in harmony with students and people we are able to learn so much more. Being in harmony means feeling safe, feeling valued and a necessary part of a group. And in this case at St Patrick’s we are truly reflecting a learning community. Another great week in harmony and paradise with students from Marian College visiting, Year two students swimming, Kindergarten students receiving awards, children working together at the cake stall, students tallying the books read for MS Readathon, teachers enjoying a cake or two and students blasting off their investigations on the planets in our universe all a click away from the laptop in the library.

Now that is the week and the Spirit!!
