In Mrs Amery’s class the Kindergarten children were busy developing and building on their understanding of numbers. The children were provided time to play with and explore sets of numbers on the floor. Although children may be able to count up to and well beyond their magic number for the week, twenty eight, it was exciting to see that they knew what "28" means. The Kindy children used lots of concrete materials on the floor before transferring their knowledge to pencil and paper. Developing number sense “means that the child has an intuitive understanding of numbers in which they explored. Now that’s the spirit of learning! Well done Kindergarten.
